

COLLECTING AND AGGREGATING

CREDITWORTHINESS DATA

Abstract of the Disclosure

[0101] Transaction data is uploaded from client machines running a software application such as an accounting or financial software application. Uploaded data describes transaction history with respect to subject companies. A central server aggregates the uploaded data to generate and distribute reports and/or alerts containing creditworthiness assessments of the subject companies.